The Information Disclosure Statement

The prior art cited in the information disclosure statement filed on August 3, 2004 has been considered.

Claim Rejections – 35 U.S.C. § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. § 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 13-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claims 13-21 are incomplete in that independent claim 13 fails to set forth the components of the system for generating the loop current, for generating the plasma and introducing the material sample into the plasma. The only component specifically set forth is a spectrometer.

The independent claim is replete functional or operational language. The structure which goes to make up the system must be clearly and positively specified. The structure must be organized and correlated in such a manner as to present a complete operative device.

Additional Prior Art

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Hooke et al (US 5,648,701) disclose an inductively coupled plasma system comprising means for applying an external magnetic field to the plasma.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 1-12 are allowed over the prior art of record.

Claims 13-21 would be allowable if rewritten or amended to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. § 112, 2nd paragraph, set forth in this Office action.

Art Unit: 2877

As to independent claim 1, the prior art of record, taken alone or in combination, fails to disclose or render obvious a method of spectroscopically analyzing a material sample comprising the step of generating a loop current so as to generate a magnetic field, wherein the plasma is confined within the magnetic field, in combination with the rest of the limitations of the claim.
